DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. The drawings were received on March 30, 2005. These drawings are hereby objected to as noted below in greater detail.

3. The drawings are objected to because the line quality of the drawing title (i.e., "Fig. 1") is poor and uneven. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

4. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is written in a generally run-on fashion, because it does not avoid using phrases which can be implied (i.e., "The invention relates to"), and also because it also does not avoid referring to the purported merits of the invention (i.e., "To simplify the rear area air conditioning in structural terms"). Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

5. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phrasology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claims 1 through 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative, written in a run-on fashion and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and contain grammatical and idiomatic errors.

For example, there is insufficient antecedent basis in the claims for the limitation "the branch point" [claim 1, line 9; claim 8, line 2].

Also, it is not clear to which particular temperature the limitation "a ventilation temperature" [claim 3, line 4; claim 4, line 2; claim 7, line 3] refers.

It is not clear at all to what the limitation "or indirectly in a temperature range equivalent to this" [claim 4, lines 3-4] is comparing the recited temperature range.

Claims 1 through 8 are also rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: a controller of some sort which enables control of the distribution member as recited in base claim 1 as a function of the operating modes of the inventive air conditioning installation and which enables all of the other various control functions as recited in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. As best can be understood in view of the indefiniteness of the claims, claims 1 through 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Doi ('553, made of record via IDS).

Doi discloses a vehicular air conditioning installation for a passenger compartment or cell of a vehicle essentially as claimed, including, for example: at least one air duct 98 for leading air into a rear area of the passenger compartment, with a duct branch 100a or 100b emanating from the air duct 98 and having air flow outflow devices 78a and 78b; and, a controllable air distribution member including solenoid 108 and air flaps 80a and 80b as shown in Figure 6

The reference thus reads on the claims.

Conclusion

10. The additional prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
